

Subrogation

A Nationwide Provider of Claims Solutions

American Consulting Group represents property owners and insurers in the subrogation process related to every type of property damage. It is our commitment, when subrogating a loss, to help our clients recoup their loss from the negligent party or parties. We offer pursuit of reimbursement for carriers that have paid to settle property damage claims, deductibles paid by policyholders, and all other expenses or losses associated with the property damage as allowed by law.

The cost of restoring a property after suffering structural damage, smoke and soot damage, water damage, building envelope failure, fire sprinkler failure, or other damages caused by someone else's negligence can be considerable. Likewise, responsibility for who caused the damages may not always be clear. However, our subrogation methodologies understand how to properly assess and allocate liability, after a claim or deductible has been paid. Our considerable experience in the insurance defense arena helps us to paint a clear picture of legal accountability and pursue reasonable compensation for our clients.

Potential Areas for Recovery Include:

- ✓ Property damage
- ✓ Medical expenses caused by negligence of others
- ✓ Manufacturer's defect
- ✓ Contractor installation error
- ✓ Damage by vehicle

testimony to support our consulting work

Provencher Consulting also helps defend insurers and other parties against subrogation in property loss claims by correctly determining the cause of loss and extent of damages. If you or your company are facing potential liability for fire or other property damage, our subrogation consulting team may be able to protect your interests to limit liability or dismiss an unsubstantiated claim. Each case is handled on an individual basis and is given the full force of our experience, resources, and skill.
